

3rd route: Red arrow backwards, starting from Statler Hotel

4th route: Green dashed line that starts from Statler Hotel and meets read line (backwards) at Bailey Hall.

These 4 routes correspond to the possible 4 groups of students that we will create.

Analytical description of main route:

- Statler Hotel
- Uris Hall (cross the street)
- Day Hal
- Cornell Store
- Sage Chapel
 - Ezra Cornell founded his university as a nonsectarian institution, a decision that drew outrage and criticism. Yet the university is not, as critics suggested at the time, a "godless place."
 - Many graduate students get married here.
- McGraw Tower
 - It has 21 bells.
 - Especially at Friday evening one can hear Beatles hits, Broadway show tunes, and TV theme songs to be rang out.
 - In 1997, the tower garnered national media attention when late-night pranksters adorned the tower's spire with what turned out to be a hollowed-out pumpkin. The following spring, an anonymous source told the Cornell Daily Sun the feat had been accomplished by a pair of local rock climbers.
- Uris Library (around towards the Slope)
 - Show west campus, downtown, Cayuga lake
- Uris Library (inside)
 - Cornell has 19 libraries which hold more than 7 million books.
 - Uris is Cornell's first library building.
- Morrill Hall
 - The Arts Quad serves as home both to the College of Arts and Sciences, the university's largest undergraduate college, and the College of Architecture, Art, and Planning.
 - White, McGraw, and Morrill halls were the university's first three structures.
- Ezra Cornell Statue
 - "I would found an institution where any person can find instruction in any study."
- McGraw Hall
- White Hall (behind)
- Johnson Museum (inside)
 - On summer evenings, the building's walls serve as a movie screen, bringing audiences to the lawn below.
- Sibley Hall
- Thurston Ave Bridge
 - Fall Creek
 - It connects Beebe lake to Cayuga lake.
 - Ithaca is gorges!
 - More than 10,000 years ago, glaciers carved their way south through New York State, scraping away the topsoil, and gouging the shale and bedrock below. Then they melted, leaving deep gashes in the earth that became the Finger Lakes.
- Noyes Lodge (behind)

- Beebe Lake-Dam
 - According to campus lore, if a couple walks the entire mile-long footpath around Beebe Lake holding hands, they are destined for marriage.
- Martha Van Rensselaer Hall
- Bailey Hall
- Big Red Barn
- Space Science Building
- White House
- Uris Hall
- Phillips Hall
- Upson Hall
